GROUND'S FOR APPROVAL

- Economic Hardship

- Does the cost of providing vertical accessibility meet or exceed 20% of the cost of the alteration to the primary function area?

- Does not apply to new construction.
  - Fit-outs/Build-outs are considered new construction

- Historic Nature

- Has the applicant provided documentation of the historic significance of the building?
- Would the historic significance of the structure be negatively impacted by the alterations applicant would have to make to provide accessibility?

ACCESSIBILITY ADVISORY COUNCIL

IKO Clay Hill - WAV # 697

Issue: Vertical accessibility to the second floor.

Project Type: New construction

Project Progress: Under Construction

Project Description:

The applicant is requesting a waiver from providing vertical accessibility to the second floor of a new shingle manufacturing plant with a floor area of 265,000 square feet. A large majority of the proposed project is dedicated to industrial processes. These processes include asphalt coating, granule distribution, shingle processing and storage. The overall manufacturing facility will be carried out on the first floor and the second floor will be used as an office. The project estimated construction cost is $150 million. The engineer for the project stated that vertical accessibility in this manufacturing plant is unnecessary and unreasonable. The ground floor of this manufacturing building is in full compliance with the Federal ADA and Florida Accessibility Code . By design, the upper structures of this industrial building are heavily restricted for safety and security purposes and accessible solely by IKO's employees to operate and repair automated machinery, inspect and control product quality, and provides local operator and maintenance personnel service areas for toilet facilities, showers, uniforms, breaks, training, etc. Being a manufacturing facility producing products weighing 70+ pounds, significant physical dexterity is required for these personnel including lifting, climbing equipment structures and accessing confined spaces. The applicant alleges the hardship is caused by a condition or set of conditions affecting the owner which does not affect owners in general.
