

Method of Course Evaluation (description):

All CED students are provided with a Course Evaluation Questionnaire (Online User Feedback Form) upon completing each course. It is a useful tool intended to aid CED in revising and updating its courses to improve the learning process as well as ensure that the course learning objectives are met. Based on the feedback from the engineers, CED, in collaboration with the respective instructor, modifies the course accordingly to enhance its quality and its effectiveness.

In general, CED periodically reviews and evaluates the technical content of its courses to ensure their compatibility with the current rules and regulations. Technical Advisors, made up of a select group of subject matter experts, serve on CED's Course Evaluation Committee to review courses developed and submitted by others, ensure that the course technical content is based on sound engineering principles, and ensure that the course learning objectives are met by the engineer.